Present Position	:	Associate Professor and Head , Department of Dermatology & Venereology, Chattogram Maa-O-Shishu Hospital Medical College, Chattogram, Bangladesh

CURRENT RESPONSIBILITIES

Clinical Responsibilities:

Currently working as an associate professor of the Dermatology department at Chattogram Maa-O-Shishu Hospital Medical College, Chattogram, Bangladesh as well as doing public practices in a Chattogram division. The hospital provides indoor, outdoor, referral, and skin surgeries from the dermatology & Venereology department. I have extensive experience and thorough training in evaluating, diagnosing, and treating a wide range of over three thousand skin, nail, and hair conditions and diseases, including psoriasis, eczema, and those caused by fungi, bacteria, viruses, autoimmune disorders, and genetics. Outstanding diagnostic skills and ability to deliver effective treatment for timely and full recoveries. Comprehensive training in performing skin surgeries including Cryosurgery, Electrocautery, Chemical peeling, Botox, Fillers, Nail surgery, Tumour excision, Skin biopsy, Nail biopsy, Intralesional, Chemical cautery, Mole excision, PRP therapy. I received comprehensive training in hair transplantation under the guidance of world-renowned surgeons. I am proficient in utilizing advanced technologies such as the Dermoscope, Trichoscope, and Wood's lamp for accurate diagnosis and treatment of dermatological conditions.

Teaching activities:

My teaching involves direct patient care, where I guide students and residents in diagnosing and managing dermatological conditions. I also contribute to formal education through lectures, seminars, and workshops. I have been invited to speak as a keynote speaker at numerous national and international conferences and events. Additionally, I am involved in curriculum development, ensuring that the latest advancements in dermatology are incorporated into the training of future dermatologists. Finally, I am passionate about integrating research into the learning experience, encouraging students to explore the scientific underpinnings of medicine.

Research Activities

I am passionate about dermatological research and committed to improving patient care. My research encompasses a wide spectrum of activities, including clinical trials to evaluate new therapies, epidemiological studies to understand disease patterns, basic science investigations to explore underlying mechanisms, and translational research to bridge the gap between laboratory discoveries and clinical practice. Through my research, I aim to develop innovative treatments, enhance diagnostic tools, and ultimately improve the lives of patients with skin, hair, and nail conditions. I also reviewer of several scientific papers of International and National Research journals.
